First Presbyterian Church
Texarkana, Arkansas

2009

October was a month of fun!

FPC youth, leaders, and friends had a busy month of service, fellowship, and fun. The Thanksgiving Basket food drive is in full swing and the food drive competition is heating up. At press-time Laura Davis, Kristina Ellis, and Charlie Morehead were in the lead for most food items donated. We traveled on a Magical Mystery Tour with youth and leaders from all over the Presbytery and created PDA hygiene kits, played games, and ran screaming through a corn maze. Brett Jackson enticed us to visit the Haunted Trail in Little River County and we partied all of Halloween night. Wow! God is good and He gives us GREAT FELLOWSHIP. Thank you to everyone who donated their time and resources. You are an incredible congregation and we love you!

Eco-Journey is the blog of the Environmental Ministries Office of the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A.). It will include a wide array of environmental topics: upcoming environmental events, links to interesting articles and studies, information on environmental advocacy, eco-theology topics, and success stories from churches that are going "green."

There are currently some great articles on Louisiana Wetlands. Bayou Blue Presbyterian Church in Gray, Louisiana, has begun a wetlands education program and hospitality dinners for volunteers at the Houma Presbyterian Disaster Assistance Volunteer Village.
